Description

What is the IBM Digital Learning Subscription (DLS)?

IBM Digital Learning Subscription is a SaaS-based education offering that gives individual subscribers access to IBM Cloud and Data and AI digital learning courses for a 12 month period. Subscribers can select to take up to 6 self-paced courses with labs (SPVCs) and 3 web-based training courses (WBTs) from a catalog of 150+ highly-rated IBM Cloud digital courses created by expert IBM lab teams.

What types of DLS are available?

- There are two editions available in each product area. In the Individual edition, individual subscribers can select to take up to 6 self-paced courses with labs (SPVCs) and 3 web-based training courses (WBTs).
- In the Enterprise edition, subscribers have up to 30 digital enrollments available for up to 30 users. They can choose from SPVCs and WBTs.

Why subscribe to DLS?

- The IBM Digital Learning Subscription is personalized, flexible and cost-efficient.
- Personalized: Build your expertise. Choose the digital courses that map to your learning journey, skills destination, and desired role.
- Flexible: Move at your pace. Choose digital courses with hands-on labs anytime during your subscription period.
- Cost-Efficient: Pay one price for 12 month subscription. Realize built-in savings as compared to individual course purchases.
- Which type of courses are available in DLS?
